

2007 CABERNET SAUVIGNON ESTATE

“Ray Signorello is a guy who gets it. He has one of the most extraordinary personal wine collections I have ever come across (and, err, plundered on one happy occasion), without a single average quality bottle - every wine is a reference point for its region/appellation/grape, so he clearly understands what fine wine is all about. He also understands international markets, and prices his wines to sell, not to finance another sports car. His full range of Napa wines favor finesse and elegance over sheet power and heft, so unsurprisingly his 2007 Napa cabernet has more than a nod back to the old world. This is about structure, complexity and elegance, with superb architecture and depth, and a finish that lingers on endlessly.”
