1999 PADRONE

Signorello's top offering, Padrone, is a proprietary blend from a rocky vineyard that tends to yield about one ton of fruit per acre. There are only 550 six-packs of this offering. The outstanding 1997 Padrone was reviewed in issue #141. The newest release, the 1999 Padrone, is equally impressive. Its deep saturated blue/purple color is followed by aromas of crushed black fruits intermixed with licorice, mineral, and vanilla scents. Dense, full bodied, powerful, and tannic, it is only for those with patience. Anticipated maturity: 2006-2020
